Puma has been making headlines by partnering itself with big names in the music industry like Rihanna, the Weeknd, and Big Sean. Now, the brand is riding that momentum and introducing new silhouettes that adapt to the always-changing climate of today's sneaker world to its diverse arsenal. Puma's newest design features a transparent midsole unit that is filled with small "Jamming" pebbles to provide a never-before-seen cushion system. The model set to kick off the new line comes with a forest green and black knit upper, an evoKNIT sockliner, and a modernized lacing system for easy slip-on access. The Puma JAMMING Cushion will be available globally at Puma retailers such as Sneakersnstuff on November 9th.
